

EAST SIDE FREEDOM LIBRARY

Invite you to join us in a celebration of our new

UNION

On the seventeenth anniversary of its founding, the Hmong Archives is moving into a NEW HOME – in the warm and beautiful confines of the East Side Freedom Library. This new institution, in the historic Carnegie Library building at 1105 Greenbrier Street, is collecting resources and organizing programs which place the stories of immigrants, workers, and people of color where they belong: at the center of the American experience. Like the books, recorded music, films, visual art, and material objects being processed and cataloged by the East Side Freedom Library, Hmong Archives' remarkable resources will be available to learners of all ages and will inspire East Siders to tell their own stories.
